CARR NAMED TO DIRECT DOCTORS

Committee Chairman for Physicians in Y. M. C. A. Campaign Selected.

There will be a large turnout of "Y" drive committeemen and workers at the dinner to be served them at 6 o'clock on Friday evening at the Y. M. C. A. Building, according to General Chairman Francis McQuillan, who stated this morning that there would likely be between 120 and 150 present for the "thrust" session. C. W. Evans, chairman of the committee on speakers, will have a number of good speakers ready for the meeting on Friday night.

Announcement was made today that Dr. H. H. Carr has accepted the position as chairman of the committee on physicians, and he hopes to get the medical men in line 100 per cent. A speaker will address the medical men at the regular meeting of the Marion County Medical Association, which will be held at the Y. M. C. A. on October 10. Doctor Carr feels that every member of the association will become a sustaining member of the Y. M. C. A. before the drive is over.

The medical men of the city will also urge the business men to become members of the organization, as they feel that the big disease at the present time is "deskbound-itis," and that the best cure for this disease is to get out and exercise, and take the courses in physical education given at the Y. M. C. A.

It is said that the dentists of the city will also line up strong in the drive.

The general trend of the movement as a whole is decidedly better and shows improvement on the whole over given periods.

CAPTAINS NAMED FOR HOSPITAL TAG DAY ON SATURDAY

tag day will go toward the installation of this waiter.

With an average of fifty patients constantly in Cook Hospital, the amount of supplies in the way of food, linens, ice, trays for the sick, etc., that must be now carried by hand from floor to floor is an exhausting job.

Saturday is Fairmont's busiest day, and if the weather is fine the streets will be crowded with people. There will be hundreds of men and women in the throngs Saturday who owe their present good health to the care they received in Cook Hospital. In many instances men, women and children will be abroad in the crowd who owe their lives to the fact that Fairmont has a public hospital and that it was ready to receive them in emergency cases in which delay would have meant death. These people are friends and supporters of Cook Hospital, and these, with the warm sympathy of the general public for the institution, and the great popular interest in its welfare and success, lead the Woman's Hospital Association to believe that the tag day appeal on Saturday will be the most successful one ever put on by the association.

New Woman Senator Not Worried About Flappers of Today

CARTERSVILLE, Ga., Oct. 4.—(By the Associated Press.)

A woman who has lived to be 87 and still retains her optimism over the outlook for human control in America cannot help but realize that it is not so much a question of laws to govern men and women as it is a question of enforcement, said Mrs. W. H. Felton, who has become the first woman U. S. senator. She declared after her home here today that she is succeeding the late Senator Watson without excitement over such questions as the tariff, the bonus and the fast disappearing flapper-type of girl.

"Good laws and good law makers," she said, "we already have. I shall not strive to win glory in statesmanship. If only I can aid in making men and women live cleaner, sweeter and more wholesome lives, I shall be well satisfied."

Mrs. Felton reminds one of the old fashioned mother portrayed on the American stage of today. Her hair is as white as snow and her face wrinkled, but despite her age she is very active. She possesses a magnetic personality. Although retiring in her manner, the "grand old woman of Georgia," as she is known throughout the South, talks as fluently as she writes and does not hesitate to express her views on important issues of the day.

Senator Felton declared that the legislation that this country most needs today is that gained "at the knees of the mothers of America—laws that are greater than laws."

CONSPIRACY CASE NOW BEING HEARD

Barker Found Guilty of Horse Stealing and Given Three Years in Pen.

John Dille of Connellsville mine on Tevabough Creek is being tried in Criminal Court today on a charge of feloniously conspiring against William Hummel. The case was called at the opening of court. Attorneys Knapp and Rose for the defense moved that the indictment be quashed. Judge E. M. Showalter heard the arguments on the motion and overruled the motion.

Dille entered a plea of not guilty and the following petit jurors were selected to act as trial jurors in the case: P. B. Henry, Thomas Everett, A. R. Chestney, Joe Myers, D. A. Carpenter, W. L. Ballah, Allison Merrifield, Ben Ammons, George Fleming, S. M. Farrell, L. W. Duncan and Thomas A. Bell.

Assistant Prosecuting Attorney John W. Mason is trying the case for the state. In his opening remarks to the jury, Mr. Mason said that the state would try to prove through its witnesses that Dille had been arrested by county officers for a violation of the State Prohibition Law, and that he believed Hummel had "given the officers the information that led to his arrest. Dille together with a 14-year-old son and Russell Martin went to a corralled near Hummel's home and Dille threw a large stone through a window of the Hummel home, the prosecuting attorney said.

The state's witnesses occupied the stand during the morning and early afternoon session. At 2 o'clock the state was about ready to rest its case. The case will probably go to the jury late this afternoon.

Dorsey Barker, who was tried on a charge of stealing a horse from J. W. Duncan of Hawks Nest, in Mannington District near the Wheel County line, yesterday, was found guilty by the trial jury late yesterday afternoon. Judge Showalter sentenced him to serve three years in the state penitentiary at Moundsville.

FOREIGN ISSUES IN ELECTION IN STATE FORESEEN

Near East Situation and Indorsement of League by Democrats Cited.

By CHARLES BROOKS SMITH.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 3.—Foreign and not domestic political issues are going to interest the voters of West Virginia this year, according to views expressed today on the political trend and situation in that state by former Congressman Edward Cooper of Bramwell, who represented the fifth Congressional district in the House of Representatives for four years. The war developments in the Near East and the fact that the Democratic candidates are bound by their party's indorsement of the national platform of 1920 to an adherence to the League of Nations are the reasons assigned by Mr. Cooper for his forecast of the course the campaign in his state will take when it gets to going strong and the voters become aroused.

"The World War," declared Mr. Cooper today, "taught the people of West Virginia with startling, shocking swiftness and clearness that the United States is not as far removed from Europe's theaters of warfare that they had thought. It taught them also that conscripting our boys to fight in European wars was a thing that could happen that they never thought could or would happen, since it never did happen."

"In the light of that dearly acquired knowledge and the warlike situation in and around the Near East, and in view of the fact that the Democratic party in West Virginia, especially and conspicuously its candidates for the United States Senate, Major Neely, is committed to the plan to vote the United States into membership of the League of Nations, that proposition is, in my judgment, inevitably destined to take the front of the stage in the campaign in West Virginia before election day dawns."

"West Virginians who gave their boys by the thousands to General Pershing to defend the honor and uphold the rights of this nation, as well as West Virginia parents who have boys that other wars may take from them, are not favorable to our membership in the League of Nations, because they hold to the view, and a correct view of it is, in my opinion, that it involves us in foreign entanglements of a political and military character which will make for war rather than peace. The present situation in the Near East justifies their position. It causes to be borne in on our minds that had we gone into the League, as President Wilson intended we should and desired, we would now have a mandate over Armenia, an army on the ground to maintain it, reinforcements leaving our shores for it, and Congress now in session levying taxes and appropriating billions with which to carry through the enterprise. Our recent experience seems to indicate that the picture is undrawn, if anything."

"The Democratic party in West Virginia is committed to the League. Candidate Neely is irrevocably committed to it. He is running for an office the term of which is for six years. It is an office that settles policies that make for war or for peace. The biggest leaders advocating membership in the League are carrying on the fight for it. They say that it wasn't definitely and permanently settled by the American people at the polls in 1920, and, therefore, it will be passed on again two years hence. The advanced status of the issue in West Virginia indicates that they are probably right. It is but a fore-runner."

"These are some of the reasons that have caused me to form the opinion that domestic political questions will be subordinated issues in West Virginia before the end of October rolls around. Domestic issues are nothing in importance compared to this issue of embroiling our government in European politics, intrigue, land-grabbing by the artistic means of the mandate business, and the inevitable warnings that naturally result to those who mix into such messes. The tariff, high costs, unionism and industrial strife, controversies over political patronage, bonus or no bonus, all such questions as those will become petty and unimportant compared to the League of Nations membership question when the fathers and mothers in West Virginia who do the voting get down to the business of calmly investigating to see that the parties and the candidates are committed to and what it is proposed to commit the people of our state to.

"West Virginians will not stand for a political party nor for its candidates who advocate such a thing. They showed that two years ago, and they will show it again this year."

HUSBAND SHOTS WIFE FOR BURGLAR IN HOME

LOGAN, Oct. 4.—Mrs. Hazel Messenger of Curry was in a dangerous condition at a hospital here today, suffering from a bullet wound in the left side received when her husband fired, as he reported, at what he supposed to be a burglar. Walter Messenger, the husband, told his story when he brought his wife to the hospital and authorities here made no effort to detain him. He said that after the family had retired last night he heard sounds which caused him to go to another room to get his revolver. While he was gone his wife arose and went to a window and when Messenger returned he shot at what he thought was a burglar.

FURTHER ADVANCE IN PRICES NOTED

Heavy Buying of Oil Shares Results in Bouyant Tone on Market Today.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Heavy buying of oil shares caused a further advance in prices in today's stock market. Declaration of a 100 per cent stock dividend by the Standard Oil Co. of California resulted in a strong demand for that stock, 7,000 shares being sold in the first few minutes at prices ranging from 132 1/2 to 133. The next sale was 200 shares at 134. Standard Oil of New Jersey was pushed up 2 points to a new high and gains of 1 to 3 1/2 were recorded by Houston, Associated Oil, Pacific Oil and California Petroleum. National Biscuit was another individual feature, opening 2 1/4 points higher and soon extending its gain to 3 1/4 points, a new high record. Rails were actually bought under the leadership of Lackawanna, Union Pacific and Rock Island, all of which improved a point or more. American Radiator also sold at a new high price.

The volume of business indicated the reappearance of an investment demand on the part of small investors. The bouyant feature in the Standard Oil group exercised a dominant influence in prices, but the resumption of active bidding for public utilities, merchant dining and standard railroad shares also accelerated the upward swing. There were a very few exceptions to the rising trend, Delaware & Hudson and Pullman breaking 1 to 4 points on realizing sales and the Mexican Seaboard issues yielding a point in response to reports of further decreases in production in the too-too fields. National Biscuit extended its gain to 15 points and Standard Oil of New Jersey to 6, while gains of 1 to 3 1/2 points were made by Fisher Body, May Department Store, DuPont, National Lead, Mexican Petroleum and U. S. Realty. Call money opened at 4 1/2 per cent.

mittie later, M. C. Lough of the good roads committee stated that the stretch of road between here and Clarkburg was coming along better, and that if material could be furnished as rapidly as needed the road would be completed shortly. He added that there were two stretches between Fairmont and Morgantown still incomplete, one on this side of Arnoldsburg about a mile and one on the other side, the other beyond Arnoldsburg about two miles. He said that the work will be speeded up by the placing of an extra concrete mixer and the addition of labor from the county jail. The strip between Morgantown and the Pennsylvania line is practically completed, it was reported.
